Source Based Question

Q. 23 Read the extracts and answer the following questions.

If several parties compete for power, and more than two parties have a reasonable chance of coming to power either on their own strength or in alliance with others, we call it a multiparty system. Thus in India, we have a multiparty system. In this system, the government is formed by various parties coming together in a coalition. When several parties in a multi-party system join hands for the purpose of contesting elections and winning power, it is called an alliance or a front. For example, in India there were three such major alliances in 2004 parliamentary elections– the National Democratic Alliance, the United Progressive Alliance and the Left Front. The multiparty system often appears very messy and leads to political instability. At the same time, this system allows a variety of interests and opinions to enjoy political representation.

- a) Which of the following Coalition government is in power at center India in presently? 1
  - i. National Democratic Front (NDA)
  - ii. United Progressive Alliance (UPA)
  - iii. Left Front

Q.25 Read the extracts and answer the following questions.

Economists began to think in terms of the national economy. They talked of how the nation could develop and what economic measures could help forge this nation together. Friedrich List, Professor of Economics at the University of Tübingen in Germany, wrote in 1834: 'The aim of the Zollverein is to bind the Germans economically into a nation. It will strengthen the nation materially as much by protecting its interests externally as by stimulating its internal productivity. It ought to awaken and raise national sentiment through a fusion of individual and provincial interests. The German people have realized that a free economic system is the only means to engender national feeling.'

- a) What was the aim of Zollverein? 1
b) Who was Friedrich List? 1

Q.26 Read the extracts and answer the following questions.

The idea of power-sharing has emerged in opposition to the notions of undivided political power. For a long time it was believed that all power of a government must reside in one person or group of persons located at one place. It was felt that if the power to decide is dispersed, it would not be possible to take quick decisions and to enforce them. But these notions have changed with the emergence of democracy. One basic principle of democracy is that people are the source of all political power. In a democracy, people rule themselves through institutions of self-government. In a good democratic government, due respect is given to diverse groups and views that exist in a society.

- a) In how many tiers power is shared in India? 1
    i. One layer
    ii. Two layer
    iii. Three layer
    iv. Four layer
b) Why did idea of power sharing emerge? 1
c) 'It would not be possible to take quick decisions and to enforce them in Democracy.' Do you agree with the statement? 1
d) Write a brief gist of the above given paragraph in your own words. 1
